

SPEAKERS BIO

Matt Luna is the project communication officer for the Microbial Desalination (MIDES) project that is developing a low-energy system of producing safe drinking water (0.4 FTE). He has worked since 2013 in the environmental sector with NGOs including the Institute for Environmental Security and as a contributing writer/editor for IHE Delft publications.

A former journalist with the International New York Times in Paris, Matt is also the creator and organizer of The Hague Roundtable on Climate & Security. The Roundtable is an initiative aimed at increasing international cooperation on climate impacts including responses to droughts, floods and natural disasters. He is a graduate of the University of North Florida at Jacksonville.

GCCA + @COP25: Climate and Security- emerging trends and adaptive strategies

Date: 11 December 2019

Time: 10:30-12:00

Address: IFEMA - EU pavilion, Room Helsinki
Avenida del Partenón
28042 Madrid – Spain

Link: GCCA + @COP25 : Climate and Security- emerging trends and adaptive strategies

---